

Barnett Ten-X Picture Library

Introduction

In 2012 I restored my first Barnett Ten-X .22 target rifle and subsequently published my first set of Armourers Notes. Initial research stated that only two hundred and fifty rifles were manufactured, however since then I have restored a rifle with the serial number 256 and more rifles are coming to light with higher numbers.

Further more, people from around the world have started to contact me concerning their rifles and therefore I have decided to start a pictorial reference library for these fine rifles to try and preserve their future. Should anybody wish to see more information on these rifles, then go to my website at www.thamesvalleyguns.co.uk and click on Armourers Notes, followed by Barnett Ten-X.

Should anybody read these notes and own a Barnett, I would be really grateful if you could contact me at the email address provided at the end of these notes and send any pictures you may have of your Barnett and I will add them to this website, please include the rifles serial number and your location.

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 11 (authors rifle)

Location: Thatcham, Berkshire, England

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No Unknown

Location: NRA Museum, Bisley, Surrey, England

Barnett Ten-X Picture Library

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 256

Location: Merthyr Tydfil, Glamorgan, Wales

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 422

Location: Macon, Georgia, USA

Barnett Ten-X Picture Library

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 277

Location: Poplarville, Mississippi, USA

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 136

Location: Kansas City, Missouri, USA

Barnett Ten-X Picture Library

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 127

Location: Front Royal, Virginia, USA

Barnett Ten-X, Serial No 67

Location: Ontario, Canada

1st published: 13 Feb 2015

2nd Published: 29 July 2015

3rd Published: 26 Mar 2016

Paul Green
Thames Valley Guns
Thatcham, England

Contact details:

www.thamesvalleyguns.co.uk

Email: paul.tvg@ntlworld.com